SOCIETY.

QUANTITIES of the laborer—nam—the golden shower blossom, —purple asters, baskets of asparagus and maidenhair fern, and tropical palms, lent their grace and color toward the decorative scheme of the University dinner-dance which took place last night, at the new University Club on the corner of Richards and Hotel streets. Purple and gold are the club colors, so it was decided that these flowers should be used to decorate the interior of the clubhouse and the dinner tables as well. An effective frieze of golden shower was used in the dining-room. Tropical foliage and palms were also used, while overhead were suspended baskets of trailing asparagus vine and maidenhair fern. The original intention was to open the clubhouse with a large ball, but owing to so many of the club members and their families being out of town, this idea was abandoned, and an informal dinner-dance was substituted. Last night fully two hundred guests were present. The popular dinner hour was half-past seven. Between seven o'clock and half-past, the driveway leading to the clubhouse was filled with automobiles. Kaul's native quintet club was stationed in the large dining-room and discoursed sweet music during the dinner hours, later playing for the dancing. The president of the club, Judge Ballou, and his charming wife entertained at dinner in honor of Mrs. F. R. Day, whose husband, the late F. R. Day, was the second president of the club. The Ballous' table was decorated in purple and gold and maidenhair fern. Among the other guests were Colonel Shuyler, Miss Irwin and Mr. Schaeffer. Mrs. Ballou was clad in a white satin, with an overdress of white embroidered chiffon. A large hat of Chanticleer pink completed the costume. Mrs. F. R. Day wore an imported gown of satin. Dr. and Mrs. James Judd entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dillingham and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Judd. Mrs. James Judd's gown of veiled green chiffon cloth over white satin was greatly admired; a large black picture hat was worn. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gail, Mr. and Mrs. E. Paxon Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Abenzo Gantley were among Dr. and Mrs. Hobdy's guests. Mrs. Hobdy looked extremely handsome in black satin trimmed in cloth of gold, with touches of pink. Dr. Hodgins and Mr. Williamson entertained in honor of the Princess Kawanakoa and Miss Ada Rhodes. The table was arranged for eight, among their other guests being Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Balen. The Princess Kawanakoa looked stunning in a Paris robe of white chiffon over white satin; this robe was sequined with silver and gold.

Miss Ada Rhodes looked unusually pretty in a pale blue peau de crepe over blue satin, with pearl trimmings. Mr. Thomas King Jr. entertained in honor of Commodore and Mrs. Smith, Captain and Mrs. Huzzard of the Sweetheart, and Mrs. Horton of Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Huzzard looked extremely well in a light blue Dirigoite satin, tunic effect; the jewels worn with the costume were diamonds. Mrs. Horton wore a New York creation of amber satin, heavily embroidered; a string of pearls was worn.

Mrs. Smith wore pink chiffon embellished with lace. Mr. and Mrs. Mead also entertained, among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kimball, Miss Catherine Goodale and Miss Helen Kimball. Mrs. Mead wore a beautiful band made frock of white silk, encrusted with real lace. Judge Cooper and his daughter Miss Alice entertained informally. Miss Cooper wore a beautiful gown of blue satin with touches of gold. Captain and Mrs. Falls were host and hostess at a dinner arranged for five, the dinner was given in honor of Captain Cochran of the Thetis. Mr. Fred Lowrey made a genial host on this occasion, seven guests were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey acted as chaperones. Among the guests were Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Helen North, Miss Muriel Howatt, Mr. Alan Lowrey and Mr. Stanley Kennedy. Among Mr. and Mrs. L. Whitehouse guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell, Miss Lydia McStocker and Mr. McInerney. Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Prosser entertained a party of six, their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Berg, Miss Mumford and Mr. Charles Pond McAvoy, Doctor Tucker Smith of the Navy entertained in honor of his sister-in-law the Misses Beall of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emory, Mr. and Mrs. Charles

Henry Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Hemingway, Miss Hemingway and Mr. Walter Kenday were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Steere, Lt. and Mrs. Bowen entertained a party of six. Mr. Bowen wore a pink satin gown and presented a picture of loveliness. Admiral and Mrs. Corwin P. Rees had six in their party. Mrs. Rees wore a Paris gown and looked unusually handsome. Doctor and Mrs. Moore had as their guests of honor Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marx who have recently returned from a two years' trip abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atherton entertained a party of young people. Among their guests were Miss Rice, Miss Benton, the Misses Atherton, Mr. Philip Rice and Dr. Sexton of Kaula, the Frederick Waterhouses also entertained. Mr. F. E. Thompson entertained in honor of Doctor and Mrs. Clifford B. High and Miss Alice Roth. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Coleman's dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Weston and Mr. Curzon Osborne, Captain and Mrs. Low's guests were five in number. Mr. and Mrs. Haencke of Burlingame, Cal., entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and the Misses Richardson of Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Bond were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Montrose Graham. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman entertained a party of eight. Captain and Mrs. Timbulake of Fort Ruger entertained a party for four. Mrs. Hill was the complimented guest at the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Thurston. Mr. Jack Atkinson was the host at a stag dinner. Doctor and Mrs. Mitchell, who returned yesterday from their honeymoon, entertained at dinner. Lt. Pardee's party included six. Major Haines, U. S. A. presided at a stag dinner. Lt. Vaughan of Fort Ruger entertained eight friends. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Nowell's dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mr. Paplin and Mr. W. G. Singhurst. After dinner the large dining room was cleared and dancing was indulged until a late hour. Card tables were placed in the ladies' annex for the convenience of those who preferred cards to dancing. The keynote of this waterediment was informality which gave added enjoyment to the affair. There is some talk of making these dinner dances fortnightly affairs and it is hoped that their old foundation for this corner, as they would be keenly enjoyed by the "fair sex" belonging to the smart set.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Ada Rhodes to Mr. William Williamson was announced at a luncheon this afternoon which was given at the home of Miss Irene Dickson at her home at Kaula. The table was decorated in Cupids and white tulle, the pre-nuptial idea was observed in every detail of the adornment of the table. The picture of the bride-elect appears on this page. This announcement is of more than passing interest for the prospective bride is one of the belles of Honolulu. Miss Rhodes is a vivacious brunette, with large brown eyes and wavy brown hair and is a universal favorite. She is not only extremely pretty but is talented as well. She is a finished pianist, having had some of the finest teachers to instruct her in that art. Miss Rhodes and Miss Dickson, in company with the latter's father, recently completed a trip around the world. Mr. Williamson is equally as popular in social circles as his fiancée, and is a prominent stock broker in this community. The date of the wedding has not been set but it will probably occur in the fall or the first part of the winter. The numerous friends of the young people will be glad to know that they have decided to have a large home wedding. A number of "showers" and other entertainments are being planned for this young girl by her numerous friends. The following guests were at the engagement luncheon: Miss Rhodes, Princess Kawanakoa, Mrs. Harold Giffard, Mrs. Frederick Damon, Mrs. J. M. Riggs, Mrs. Arthur Davison, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. James Dougherty and Mrs. Jack Balen.

Mrs. Chillingworth's Bridge Party.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Charles Chillingworth entertained at bridge in honor of the Princess Kawanakoa. The pretty home of the Chillingworths on King street was tastefully decorated with cut flowers, maidenhair fern and palms. Beautiful prizes were awarded. After the awarding of the prizes delicious refreshments were served. Among Mrs. Chillingworth's friends were the Princess Kawanakoa, the Princess Kaulanaloa, Miss Maggie McIntyre, Mrs. Gustaf Schmidt, Mrs. Lon Whitehouse, Mrs. Ferdinand Ross, Mrs. Marston Campbell, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. William C. Campbell, Mrs. Chas. Falk, Mrs. Geo. Curtis, Mrs. Carl Wideman, Miss Ada Rhodes, Miss Irene Dixon, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. Robert Shingle, Mrs. H. C. Murray, Miss Beatrice Campbell, Mr. Albert Taylor and Mrs. George Smithies.

Princess Kawanakoa took the first prize, and the second prize went to Mrs. Fred Danes.

The weddings that will be celebrated in the late summer are beginning to be the subject of discussion. One of the most attractive of the coming month will be that of Miss Harriet Sterling of Stockton and Ensign Richmond Kelley Turner. The pretty ceremony will have all the pomp of a service wedding, and will take place Wednesday, August 3, at the home of the bride in Stockton. The young officer has just passed his examination for promotion and secured the honor of being third in his class. The congratulations for him these days are twofold. As soon as the examinations were safely over the wedding date was announced. The nuptial bride-elect is being entertained at several parties preceding her wedding. She is not as well known in local society as her fiancée, who is a great favorite in the navy set. He is attached to the West Virginia. There will be a honeymoon trip after the wedding, and there is a probability that the couple will be at Mare Island for an indefinite stay.—S. F. Call.

Miss Ethel Monserratt of Honolulu arrived on the transport Sheridan last week and has been visiting relatives here prior to her departure for the East, where her marriage to Lieutenant Powers of the Marine Corps will take place next month. Lieutenant Powers is on duty at the new Marine School in New London, Conn., and it was impossible for him to secure leave to make the long journey to the islands to claim his bride, so the wedding will be celebrated at the home of friends. The engagement of the young officer and Miss Monserratt, who is one of the belles of Honolulu society, is the result of a fleet romance. They met two years ago when the fleet visited Honolulu.—S. F. Examiner.

Mrs. Draper and Miss Elsa Draper, who have occupied the Frank Johnson residence at Marinita Park, San Rafael, for the past year, have taken a house in Sausalito, which they will occupy on the return of Mrs. Draper from Oregon, where she is with her son, who is recovering from a severe attack of typhoid fever. The wedding of Miss Draper and Midshipman John Lawrence Kaufman will take place in Sausalito some time during September.—S. F. Call.

Capt. and Mrs. Chaulker left on the transport Logan. Lieut. Chaulker has just received his promotion and has been ordered to Fort Townsend, Wash.
